A SALUTE

"Educator of the Year"

Eugene M. Langan

Eugene M. Langan is a native of Scranton and presently resides in Scranton with his wife Margaret.

After high school he entered St. Thomas College, now the University of Scranton. He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1934. From 1936 to 1948 he was a teacher and counselor in the Scranton Public Schools. In 1948 he became an elementary principal and he also served as an acting secondary vice principal in the Scranton School District. During this time Mr. Langan received his Master of Arts Degree from the University of Scranton. He has done post graduate work since 1952 at the University of Scranton and Pennsylvania State University.

Mr. Langan served the Scranton School District as Curriculum Director from 1954 to 1964. He held the position of Assistant to the Superintendent of Schools in the Scranton School District from 1964 to his retirement in March, 1978. This position was interrupted from 1968 to 1971 while he served as Acting Superintendent of Schools in Scranton. Mr. Langan also taught courses at the University of Scranton, Marywood College, and Pennsylvania State University.

In his long tenure with the Scranton School District, Mr. Langan has contributed articles to local news media and professional magazines, such as, the "National Elementary Principals Yearbook" and the "Pennsylvania School Journal." He developed programs under Title III, N.D.E.A., the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, Titles I, II and III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Mr. Langan has served as Editor of the Scranton School District Newsletter since its introduction in 1957. He was responsible for the complete revision of the District's secondary school curriculum in 1957. He also served as Director of the Elementary Self-Study Program in 1965.

Mr. Langan served with the United States Army from 1944 to 1945. He is a member of the American Association of School Administrators, National Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development, and the University of Scranton Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa. Mr. Langan was also awarded the Pro Deo et Universitate medal for over twenty years of service to the University of Scranton.

Mr. Langan is a member of St. Vincent De Paul Parish of Scranton. He is the father of five children; Eugene, Director of Keystone City Residence for the mentally retarded; Mary Ann Brennan, resident of Connecticut and mother of six children; Paul, advertising representative for the Scranton Times; Michael, Vice Principal of North Scranton Junio High School; and Gerald, Director of Head Start Program of Scranton, Lackawanna Human Development Agency.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The University of Scranton, the oldest Catholic institution of higher education in Northeastern Pennsylvania, was founded in 1888 as Saint Thomas College. It is chartered under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and empowered to confer Bachelor's and Master's degrees in the Arts, Sciences, Business Administration and Education. In 1938 Saint Thomas College became the University of Scranton, while four years later the Society of Jesus acquired title from the Catholic Diocese of Scranton and administrative control from the Brothers of the Christian Schools. Thus Scranton became the twenty-fourth of the twenty-eight Jesuit colleges and universities in the United States.

In 1950 graduate study in Education was initiated, the first Master's degree being awarded in June, 1952. Since that time more extensive programs were developed in Elementary Education, Psychology and Guidance, Educational Administration. Through courses at the University's Graduate School several State Certificates may be obtained. A graduate History program was first offered in 1955, while graduate curricula in English and in Business Administration are of 1960 origin. Graduate programs in Chemistry and Physics began in the Fall of 1967.

The University of Scranton Graduate School offers programs of study leading to the following degrees: Master of Business Administration; Master of Arts or Master of Science degree in English, American History and Politics, Chemistry, Physics and Solid State Electronics. In addition a Master of Arts or a Master of Science degree program may be selected in any of the following areas: Elementary and Secondary Education, Elementary and Secondary School Administration, Counselor Education, General Science, Reading, Rehabilitation Counseling and Vocational Adjustment. A program of study can be developed by the student correlating a M.S. program in Secondary Education with Art, Business, English, History, Mathematics, Music, Reading, General Science, Chemistry, Physics, and Social Studies.

Students in the M.A. program in History and English have the option of a thesis or non-thesis program; those in the M.A. program in Education, Chemistry and Physics are required to complete a thesis.

OBJECTIVES

As one of the family of world wide Jesuit Colleges and Universities, the University of Scranton shares with them a common educational heritage and tradition. Its principal objective, therefore, is: to lead the student to understand and to inspire him to fulfill that complex of dignities and responsibilities which Man is, as a person and as a member of human society, under God.

Specifically, as the university in this community, the University of Scranton labors to prepare its students to be thoughtful, active, effective citizens with a developed sense of leadership and a dedicated spirit of community service in the arts and professions.

More particularly, the Graduate School of this University aims 1) to communicate, interpret, intensify and integrate academic knowledge and relationships; 2) to develop professional attitudes, skills and competence in the student's chosen area of concentration; 3) to foster those value judgments so basic to human life and education—values which flow not only from a given discipline but also from Christian revelation and the Judaeo-Graeco-Roman, Western moral and intellectual tradition; 4) to promote research.

ORGANIZATION AND LOCATION

The administration and supervision of the Graduate School is the responsibility of the Dean of the Graduate School. He is assisted by a Graduate Advisory Committee, of which he is chairman. All questions concerning admission, candidacy and comprehensive examinations or modifications of course programs, must be submitted in writing to the Dean of the Graduate School. Decisions of the Dean of the Graduate School and his Advisory Committee are final.

Requests for admission, transcript, letters to interested parties, and data concerning academic records should be made to the Graduate Office, University of Scranton.

The office of the Dean of the Graduate School is Room 310, St. Thomas Hall, Monroe & Linden Street. The office is open daily from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. When classes are in session it is also open in the evenings and on Saturday mornings. FOR STUDENTS WHO WISH TO CONSULT THE DEAN THE COURTESY OF CALLING FOR AN APPOINTMENT IS RECOMMENDED.

There are three regular semesters of graduate courses: Fall, Spring and Summer. Fall and Spring graduate courses are taught each evening, except Friday, at Monroe & Linden Street from late afternoon to 9:00 P.M. and on Saturdays from 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. During the Summer term, graduate classes are scheduled Monday through Thursday for six weeks.

An Intersession Program is held between the Fall and Spring Semesters. Please consult the special bulletin issued in December regarding the details of this session.

Graduate courses in the M.B.A. program are usually taught at O'Hara Hall, Linden St. and Jefferson Avenue.

Time schedules for each course appear in the special bulletins published four times each year for Fall, Interession, Spring and Summer programs, and can be obtained at the Graduate School Office.

COLLEGE MISERICORDIA

According to a cooperative agreement for graduate programs, the University of Scranton Graduate School and College Misericordia, Dallas, Pa., will offer several courses during the Summer, Fall and Spring Semesters on the campus of College Misericordia. During all sessions, classes generally will be conducted on the same time schedule as the U. of S.

Application for admission to graduate study must be made to the University of Scranton. The faculty will be members of the cooperating schools. Credits are granted by the University of Scranton. Up to eighteen credits toward the M.A. or M.S. degrees may be acquired at College Misericordia while the remaining credits must be obtained at the University of Scranton. Charges at the cooperating schools are identical. So also are the candidacy and comprehensive examinations, course numbering, content and credits, curriculum and departmental requirements. Courses at both Scranton and Dallas are open to men and women.

MARYWOOD COLLEGE

Through a cooperative arrangement with Marywood College, graduate students at the University of Scranton who wish may enroll in graduate courses offered at Marywood College. Students should consult with their mentors regarding details and to secure their written permission before registering for such courses. Registration for said courses will be handled by the staff of Marywood College.

The University has also joined Marywood College in the formation of a Consortium for Educational Field Services. The purpose of this endeavor is to develop and offer specially designed non-credit and credit courses directed toward the professional development of educators and administrators, and the general public in the geographical area of Northeastern Pennsylvania served by the two schools. Interested parties should consult either the Dean of the Graduate School, University of Scranton or the Director of Programs for Adult and Continuing Education (PACE), Marywood College.

APPLICATIONS

All planning to enter the Graduate School should contact the Graduate Office for an application form. Completed applications, together with transcripts of undergraduate and graduate work taken elsewhere, should be in the Graduate Office two months before the applicant begins graduate study. FOREIGN STUDENTS SHOULD ALLOW AT LEAST THREE MONTHS.

Admissions standards and policy of the University are free of discrimination on grounds of race, color and national origin. The University recognizes both its legal and moral obligations to fulfill the regulations of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and to conform to all applicable laws and regulations.

ADMISSION STATUS

1. Regular Admission. Students admitted to graduate study after meeting the general requirements of the Graduate School and those of the Department in which they are to enroll. CLASSIFICATION: DEGREE STUDENT.
2. Provisional Admission. Students admitted to graduate study under this category must, in addition to meeting the regular requirements, satisfactorily complete additional conditions before they can be raised to Candidacy status. CLASSIFICATION: DEGREE STUDENT—PROVISIONAL.
3. Probational Admission. A student may be admitted on a probational basis under certain circumstances. If admitted, this means that upon completion of nine graduate credit hours, the credentials and the current work of the student are reviewed. At this point it is then determined whether or not the student will be allowed to continue as a degree student. CLASSIFICATION: DEGREE STUDENT—PROBATIONAL.
4. Special Student. Students in this category are restricted to graduate study for the following purposes: certification only, transfer of credit, or self-improvement. Students so classified are not considered degree candidates unless the student presents his request to become a degree candidate in writing to the Graduate School and receives subsequently the approval of the Admissions Committee. CLASSIFICATION: SPECIAL STUDENT.

Admission to graduate study, under any circumstances, does not imply admission to candidacy for an advanced degree.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT—FOREIGN STUDENTS

Students who are citizens of non-English-speaking countries will be required to complete a review course in English. This course is specifically designed for international students who already possess a working knowledge of the English language. It is not designed for the student who has not had any previous training in the English language.

In addition to a basic English review, the course will familiarize the international student with the technical language necessary for the advanced program in which he has enrolled.

International students who present a TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) score will be considered for waiver of the English course requirement. However, this waiver is based on individual interpretation of the TOEFL score, and not on a minimum achieved score.

REGISTRATION FOR COURSES

Registration for each semester will take place according to the schedules listed in the special bulletins which are issued prior to each semester. Mail registration is permitted after the initial acceptance and registration. Registration will be with the approval of a student's mentor or chairman of the department. Students who wish to cancel their registration must give written notice to the Graduate School Office. Please see details under Withdrawal and Refunds.

In order to facilitate registration for old and new students a period of pre-registration is held each semester. This will extend over a period of about 10 days and all graduate students taking courses during the current semester must register between the announced dates. Those who do not register and have an insufficient excuse will be charged a late registration fee of $15.

The University reserves the right to withdraw a course from its schedule in which less than ten students have been registered.

Undergraduate students may register for certain graduate courses. However, it is required that they have approval of the appropriate Department Chairman and the permission of the Dean.

CANDIDACY

The student is not considered a candidate for a degree until he fulfills the following requirements:

1. Completes successfully at least nine semester hours of course credit at the University of Scranton.
2. Files a formal application for degree candidacy with the Dean.
3. Is approved by the department in the field of his major concentration according to departmental norms.

MENTORS

From the inception of graduate study, students will be assigned a mentor to help them formulate a program of studies and supervise their work. It is suggested that students work closely with their mentors and that the courtesy of arranging appointments in advance with faculty members so designated be observed by all students.

GRADES

Achievement of Graduate Students is recorded as A—excellent; B+—superior; B—good; C—fair but passing; F—failure. To insure qualitative standards, ordinarily, a student incurring 4 "C"s or 3 "C"s and an "F" ceases to be a candidate for a degree but may continue to take courses for information, self-improvement or credit. A student who fails any two courses will be automatically dismissed and so notified by mail.

Other grade symbols used are:

P which indicates pass. Individual departments are authorized the use of P (pass) or F (fail) under certain circumstances. Students in the Departments of Chemistry, Education and Human Resources should consult their Department Chairman and/or mentor for details; IP which indicates a student is registered for a thesis or an approved research project which has not been completed at the end of a given semester but for which satisfactory progress is being made. This grade is temporary and once the work has been completed it must be converted to one of the permanent grade symbols;

W which means a student has withdrawn from a course, with approval, prior to an evaluation of the student's progress by an instructor; WP or WF indicates that a student has withdrawn from a course, with approval, but an evaluation of the student's work had been made prior to the request for a withdrawal;

I indicates postponement of the completion of a course. It is given at the discretion of the instructor to a student who is doing satisfactory work but who has not completed all of the course requirements at the end of a given semester. Given such an extension, the student must complete all the required work, unless otherwise agreed, before the end of the next regular semester. Failure to complete the necessary work within the stipulated time results in automatic conversion of the "Incomplete" to the permanent grade of NC (never completed);

NC indicates that a student failed to complete the requirements of a course, in spite of an extension of time to do so.

"Audit" indicates that a student has taken a course for which permission has been granted to take without a grade being awarded. Students must secure such authorization prior to the start of a course.

The symbol "T" is a temporary grade citation issued by the Dean on grade reports when a faculty member fails to meet any announced deadline for the submission of student final grade reports. Students who received such grade reports should direct any inquiries regarding same to the professor(s) involved. This procedure has been adopted in order to expedite the processing of aggregate final grade reports and student transcripts. Such temporary grade citations will be changed, in due course, to permanent grade symbols when issued by the professor(s) charged with that responsibility.

Regular attendance at class is considered a requisite for successful completion of a course.

TIME LIMIT

All graduate work for a degree, including the thesis, must be completed within six consecutive years. Time spent in the armed forces is not included in the six year period. Extension of this time restriction may be granted for valid reasons at the discretion of the Dean.

CONSORTIUM, INSTITUTES AND OFF-CAMPUS COURSES

The Graduate School as a member of the Lehigh Regional Consortium, the Consortium for Educational Field Services with Marywood College and on its own, conducts or participates in institutes and special off-campus courses or programs. Persons enrolling in such offerings are reminded of Graduate School student application and admission policies as cited earlier in this catalog.

Attention is specifically called to the fact that enrollment in these situations does not imply that the student has been automatically accepted as a "Degree Student". The ordinary student admission classification under these circumstances is "Special Student - Professional Improvement Only".

Students are further reminded that if university graduate credits are offered and earned in these cases that they may or may not be used for fulfilling degree requirements. Acceptance of these credits for degree purposes are dependent upon the course subject matter for which they were granted and the compatibility of such matter with the student's prescribed degree program. The acceptability of credits so earned in these cases is determined by the student's mentor and/or the Director of the particular degree program. In any event, the maximum allowable credits to be so accepted can not exceed twelve. Students who contemplate utilizing such study situations for degree purposes are advised to secure written approval for such usage from their mentor and/or the Director of the appropriate degree program before enrolling.

TRANSFER OF CREDITS

After a student has acquired candidacy status he may request that approved graduate work previously completed at other institutions be accepted as partial fulfillment of graduate course requirements here. This will be granted only under the following conditions:

1. That such credits were acquired in residence at the other institution. Extension credits are, ordinarily, not acceptable.
2. That only six (6) credits maximum be transferred.
3. That courses to be transferred parallel courses here and mesh with the student's program at the University of Scranton.
4. That these credits were taken within six (6) years of the student's admission.
5. That a grade of B or better was acquired in these courses and that an official transcript is submitted for work at other institutions, including the course description of the credits in question.

Students matriculated at the University of Scranton may follow courses at other approved graduate schools, and transfer credits only with the previous permission of their mentor and the Dean of the Graduate School.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS

Before a Master of Arts or Master of Science degree is awarded, the candidate must pass a comprehensive examination in his graduate course work. This examination may be either oral, written or both. Eligibility for admission to the examination is determined by the student's mentor with the approval of the Department Committee. This examination will be given only on the dates published in the graduate catalogue. Application forms are obtainable at the Graduate School Office.

Several weeks before the examination date, the candidate should consult his mentor for a general explanation of the topics to be covered in the examination and file an application for the examination.

Candidates failing the comprehensive examination for the second time will not be considered for the advanced degree.

The results of the comprehensive examination will be forwarded to the candidate by mail.

THESIS

Candidates for the Master of Arts degree in Chemistry, Education, English, History, Physics and Rehabilitation Counseling must present a thesis, completed under the active supervision of the candidate's mentor and approved by one additional reader. In case of doubt, a third reader may be required. In the preparation of the thesis, style regulations prescribed by the Graduate School will be observed. Two copies of the accepted thesis must be submitted to the Graduate School Office on or before the date indicated in the university calendar.

SUMMARY

The following procedures are to be followed by students working for the advanced degree:

- 1) File an application for admission to graduate study, official transcripts of undergraduate preparation and of graduate credits taken elsewhere, and supporting recommendations.

- 2) Meet with their mentor to organize a program of studies in the major course concentration selected and confirm the program at each registration period.

- 3) Apply for candidacy for the degree by fulfilling requirements.

- 4) Complete core, specific major and elective courses.

- 5) Complete the required thesis or scholarly paper if applicable.

- 6) Successfully pass the required comprehensive examination if applicable.

- 7) Make formal application to the Graduate office for the degree.

ALUMNI MEMORIAL LIBRARY

The library is located on the Scranton Estate. It contains more than 180,000 bound volumes, with over 950 literary, scientific and professional periodicals currently received. Microfilm, micro fiche, and micro card reading equipment is available, as well as, inter-library loan.

The library is open daily during the Fall and Spring Semesters from 8:30 A.M. to 11:00 P.M., Monday to Thursday; 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. on Friday; 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. on Saturday. During the Summer Semester the hours are the same with the exception of a 9:00 A.M. opening hour each day. The library is open on Sundays from 3:00 to 9:00 P.M. These hours are subject to change.

COUNSELING AND PLACEMENT

The University's counseling and placement services are available to graduate students. The Counseling Center is located in St. Thomas Hall, Room 401. All offices are open on weekdays from 8:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. and at other times only by appointment.

In addition, there is an Career Services Office to serve students anticipating further graduate work, and for assistance in securing employment placement. Usually, special hours are scheduled to accommodate Graduate School students. Kindly contact the Career Services Office for these special periods.

FINANCIAL AID

Graduate teaching assistantships are available in each department offering graduate programs. Departments also award fellowships and assistantships to graduate students who aid in a variety of departmental duties, including assisting in faculty research. Traineeships are available for those students in the Rehabilitation Counseling program; aid is also provided for those enrolled in the Vocational Adjustment program through the Professional Education Program of the State of Pennsylvania. Information and application forms for the assistantships, fellowships, and traineeships may be obtained from the Dean of the Graduate School.

Resident assistantships are offered to single male and female graduate students, providing room and board in the university's dormitories. Applications may be secured from the Student Personnel Office.

In addition, loan programs for graduate students, including the National Graduate and Professional School Financial Aid Service, and a number of campus jobs through the Work-Study program are offered. Inquiries regarding loan and Work-Study programs should be directed to the Financial Aid Office.

CAMPUS HOUSING

Limited housing is offered for single graduate students in the ten modern university dormitories and university owned off-campus residences. Please consult Student Personnel office for details.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CENTER

The use of the John J. Long Center is provided for graduate students at a cost of $7.00 per semester. Facilities are provided in the physical education building, for all indoor sports such as basketball, handball, weight lifting. A physical therapy room and sauna bath are also housed in the structure.

COMPUTING CENTER

The Sigma 6 Xerox Data System, located in the Computing Center, is available for use by graduate students conducting research and programming functions in this area.

HONOR SOCIETIES

Chapter organizations of several national honor societies are maintained at the University of Scranton campus. Graduate students can be selected for membership in the following: Alpha Sigma Nu, international Jesuit honor society; Phi Delta Kappa, education; Phi Alpha Theta, national honor society in history; Delta Mu Delta, business administration honor society; Sigma Pi Sigma, physics honor society; Omicron Delta Epsilon, national honor society in economics and Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical society. Contact the chapter officers for further information regarding membership.

RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS PROGRAM (ROTC)

University of Scranton graduate school students are encouraged to consider enrolling in the ROTC program. Both men and women are eligible to enroll in the program. Students who successfully completed the ROTC Basic Course as undergraduates would participate in the Advanced Course to include a six-week summer camp at the end of their first year of graduate school. While participating in the Advanced Course, students are paid $100.00 per month for ten months per year. Students who did not enroll in or complete the Basic Course as undergraduates would be required to attend a six-week basic summer camp prior to being accepted in the Advanced Course.

Upon completion of graduate school, students would be commissioned as Second Lieutenants in the United States Army and would have an active duty obligation of three years.

Interested students should contact the Professor of Military Science in Room 603, O'Hara Hall.

Continuing Education

The Office of Continuing Education is the primary agent of the University to bring its resources to the people of the city of Scranton and its surrounding areas. It is a means of providing educational opportunities to adults who are unable to study full time or in residence.

Through its Program of Lifelong Learning the Office of Continuing Education offers a wide variety of programs.

1. Non Credit Courses

This includes such courses as refresher programs for additional background before beginning college courses, courses for the professional to upgrade skills or qualify for a license, and courses of general interest for the public of all ages.

2. Certificate Programs

Certificates are awarded for a series of courses in a specific area. Currently available or in the planning stage are programs in small business operation, real estate, accounting, management, parent education, health care management, and management in social service agencies.

3. Conferences and Institutions

These are public service programs arranged for special groups or professionals in a specific area.

4. Assessment of Experiential Learning

A program whereby students are awarded credit toward a degree based upon competencies learned in non-collegiate settings. This would also include credit by examination, CLEP, and military courses.

For further information regarding the Continuing Education program you may contact Victor J. DeSantis, (717) 961-7582.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Dr. Carl P. Barone, Chairman

DEPARTMENTAL REQUIREMENTS

The applicant for admission must possess the baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university and provide the Departmental Committee on Admissions with evidence of satisfactory undergraduate preparation to achieve graduate work of good quality. The Departmental Admissions Committee will consider each application toward this end.

The Admissions Committee will also consider the academic and personal traits of each applicant in relation to his potential for satisfactory achievement in graduate study.

With the exception of counselor education majors, the applicant will have completed the ordinary state requirements for professional certification; of those seeking master degrees, a B average in undergraduate Education courses is expected. If undergraduate course preparation in Education or the general or liberal studies is deficient, as determined by the Admissions Committee, the student will correct the deficiency before he applies for candidacy for the advanced degree.

Specific requirements for entrance into certain major concentrations are in addition to the admissions requirements to graduate study in Education at the University. These are described in the sections on Course Concentrations.

CANDIDACY

It is the responsibility of the student to fulfill all candidacy requirements. His acceptance as a graduate student in a given major requires that he fulfill the following requirements:

1. File a formal application for candidacy with the Dean of the Graduate School.
2. Pass all courses required for candidacy. (See requirements of each major).
3. Is approved by the Department in the field of his major concentration according to Departmental norms.

THE MASTER OF ARTS DEGREE

Thirty semester hours of credit are ordinarily needed for the M.A. degree. Nine of these will be in Education 202, 205, 206 or 207. Of the remaining twenty-one, three credits are allowed for the successful completion of a thesis, a requirement of the Master of Arts degree.

At the time of candidacy for the degree, the candidate's mentor, in co-operation with the student, will plan a program of studies which, together with the thesis, will provide a sound treatment of some area of interest. As a result of intensive work in this area, his study should be marked by sound mastery and technical accuracy. The M.A. program may entail requirements prescribed by the mentor, including those essential courses consistent with sound scholarship. The mentor's judgment in this matter is final.

The thesis required for the M.A. degree may be a research paper of suitable dimensions, a critical report of certain procedures or sectors of knowledge, or a scholarly biographical work on the Master's level.

The student, with the permission of the mentor, will register for a seminar while working on his thesis.

THE MASTER OF SCIENCE DEGREE

Thirty semester hours or more of course credit are usually required for the M.S. degree. For the M.S. there is no thesis requirement, but a scholarly paper must be presented to the mentor 60 days before graduation. The student may seek the Master of Science degree in any one of the concentrations indicated hereafter.

Before registration, the graduate student will meet with his advisor for the selection of a concentration of courses and the approval of his program of studies. About one half of the course requirements for the Secondary Education program will be in a subject-matter field.

While the candidate's courses within a concentration should possess flexibility, certain essential courses are required. The advisor may make substitutions in order to round out a sound program of courses, and in this matter his judgment is final.

THE COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

A comprehensive examination, as prescribed by the student's mentor, is required of all candidates for a degree in education. This examination may be written, oral, or both

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

FOUNDATIONS OF EDUCATION

Education 202. Educational Research and Literature 3 credits

This is a basic course concerned with the nature of research problems. Predictive studies, surveys and experimental designs are treated with the objectives of critical appraisal by the student and as a help to him in initiating his research project, which is to be developed with his faculty advisor.

Education 205. Philosophical and Historical Bases of Education I 3 credits

This course considers in the tradition of philosophy the fundamental problems of the nature of man, the child, the parent, the school, and society. The aims of education in society and their consequences in rights and duties are the most salient problems.

Education 206. Philosophical and Historical Bases of Education II 3 credits

The second course studies the history of education formally. After a brief overview of the classical, patristic, and medieval periods, major attention is given to education in the twentieth century, especially in the United States.

Education 207. The Sociology of Education 3 credits

The sociology of education is oriented toward understanding the social influences on learning. The socialization of the child, social structure in American society, social mobility, the school as an agency of socialization, social problems especially germane to the school such as delinquency, population and racial integration, the social role of the teacher, the school and its sociological environment will be the areas of special concern.

ADMINISTRATION

Education 221 - Educational Administration 3 credits

A foundations course in general school administration, involving philosophical bases, organization in a democratic society, administration of instruction and personnel. Required of all students beginning a major in educational administration and a prerequisite for other courses in educational administration.

Education 222.2 - Public Relations for School Principals 3 credits

An introduction to school public relations. Emphasis is focused upon the principal's role in establishing contact between schools and the general public through the use of mass media.

Education 222.3 - Personnel Management for School Principals

3 credits

An overview of the principal's role in the establishment and performance of personnel policies as they relate to recruitment, selection, orientation, deployment, promotion, evaluation, in-service development, morale, dismissal, and teacher-principal relationships. Admission with consent of instructor.

Education 222.4 - School Finance Problems for the School Principal

3 credits

An introduction to public school finance as it relates to the school principal. Emphasis is focused upon the principal's role and responsibilities in handling student funds, district budgeting and accounting, and modern planning - programming - budgetary systems. Admission with consent of instructor.

Education 222.5 - School Plant Management for the School Principal

3 credits

A study of problems involved in the planning, operation, and maintenance of school plant facilities. Emphasis is upon efficient use of existing plant facilities and their possible adaptations to meet modern educational and community needs. Admission with consent of instructor.

Education 222.6 - School and Community Relations for the School Principal

3 credits

A study of the relationship of the school to the community. Emphasis is focused upon the school-community concept, community analysis, community characteristics affecting quality education, and public participation in educational planning. Admission with consent of instructor.

Education 222.7 - Practicum in School Administration

3 credits

The purpose of this course is to give the student practical experience in administrative work. A minimum of sixty clock hours in one semester must be spent on this work. Work is done under supervision in a local school system according to a definite schedule approved by the instructor and the administrator of the school system involved. Admission by special arrangement. (Offered Fall and Spring semesters only.)

Education 222.8 - School Law

3 credits

A study of common law legislative enactments and directives of the Pennsylvania Department of Education as they pertain to the Pennsylvania School System.

Education 222.9 - Educational Management for Supervisors

Highlights of the Graduate School's Twenty-Seventh Anniversary Celebration held May 6, 1978

University of Scranton Graduate School

Cyrano Award

The tone of the Cyrano Award is set by the classic characterization of Cyrano de Bergerac, who, when translated into human terms, may be viewed as the embodiment of the most noble human virtues with concomitant human foibles. Cyrano is an amalgam of those qualities that are sought and developed by each person whose actions are governed by a code of objective moral principles and a discerning social conscience - a highly responsive person who displays an intuitive knowledge that is intimately personal and a profound awareness of the attitudes and feelings of others. In translation, the emotional stance and attributes of Cyrano de Bergerac are quintessential to the character of a distinguished person.

When interpreted, the character of Cyrano de Bergerac is representative of a person who distinguishes him - or herself through a life-style of moderation that is marked by moral purpose, rational judgement, intuitive responsiveness, and social awareness.

In accord with these interpreted attributes of Cyrano de Bergerac, the Cyrano Award is conferred upon those selected nominees who have made a significant contribution to the moral, social, and/or material betterment of the human condition through institutions, cultural advancement, scientific progress, and/or humanistic endeavors. Accordingly, the contributory activities of the nominees will be characterized by their evident selflessness, perseverance, high moral principles, and/or humanistic ideals. It is with this in mind that the University of Scranton Graduate School Award Selection Committee proudly presents as its 1977 Cyrano Award Recipients:

Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Rock, S. J. and the Honorable William J. Nealon

Awarded this day, the Sixth of May, Nineteen Hundred and Seventy-Eight on the occasion of the Twenty-Seventh Anniversary of the University of Scranton Graduate School.

CYRANO DE BERGERAC - Act II, Scene VIII

What should I need to do? Seek a mighty protector, take a patron, and, like an obscure ivy turning around the trunk of a tree, procure myself a guardian by licking the bark, climb by trickery instead of rising by force? No, thank you. Be like all the rest and dedicate my verses to men of wealth? Change to a buffoon in the vile hope of seeing a favorable smile rise to some minister's lips? No, thank you! Breakfast every day on loads? Have my belly worn out with crawling? A skin quickly soiled about the knees? Execute tricks of dorsal agility? No, thank you! With one hand caress the hare while the other urges on the hounds, and give semna through desire for rhubarb, always to be burning incense in some one's face? No, thank you! To push from step to step, become a little great man in a ring, and sail, with madrigals for oars and elderly ladies' sighs to fill the sails? No, thank you! Pay the good publisher De Sercy to bring out my poems? No, thank you! To get named pope by the councils held by idiots in the wine-shops? No, thank you! To labor to make a name from one sonnet instead of making others? No, thank you! To show your talent only to novices? To be terrorized by vagrant journals, and to say continually, "Oh, if my name only appears in the sheets to the Mercue Francois!" No, thank you! To calculate, to be afraid, to grow pale, to prefer to make a call rather than write a poem, to frame petitions, to be introduced? No, thank you! no, thank you! no, thank you! But - to sing, to dream, to laugh, to pass along, to be alone, to be free, to have an accurate eye, a vibrating voice, to put my hat on awry when I please, to fight for a yes or a no - or to write a verse! To work without thought of glory or fortune on an imaginary journey to the moon! Never to write anything that does not proceed from the heart, and, moreover, to say modestly to myself, "My dear, be content with flowers, with fruits, even with leaves, if you gather them in your own garden!" Then if perchance a little success happens to come, not to be obliged to render any of it to Caesar, but keep the merit all myself, - in short, scorn to be the parasitic ivy even if I am neither an oak nor a linden, - not to climb very high perhaps, but to climb all alone!

DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RESOURCES

Dr. Joseph A. Szuhay, Chairman

DEPARTMENTAL REQUIREMENTS

The applicant for admission must possess the baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university and provide the Departmental Admissions Committee with evidence of satisfactory undergraduate preparation. Among other requirements, a minimum undergraduate quality point average of 2.6 on the four-point scale is necessary for admission. The Committee will review each applicant's academic background, personal qualities, and work experience. A personal interview is required.

The recommendations of the Committee will be forwarded to the Dean of the Graduate School who shall notify the applicant of the Dean's decision regarding acceptance into the departmental program. Applicants are generally accepted once each year for the Fall semester although a limited number of applicants may be selected for initial admission to the other scheduled semesters. The department emphasizes full-time graduate study and priority for admission is given to those applicants who desire full-time study.

AREA OF CONCENTRATION

The Rehabilitation Counseling Program is typically 51 credits involving full-time study through four semesters of courses combining classroom work with practical experience. The minimum number of credits needed for the degree is 42. This latter degree program is appropriate for those students with a minimum of 12 months of acceptable professionally related work experience and who demonstrate competence in counseling through practical experiences or who are eligible for waiver of certain requirements based on their undergraduate preparation in Human Services at the University of Scranton. Eligibility for certification as a rehabilitation counselor by the Commission on Rehabilitation Counselor Certification, however, requires graduation from a two year program with an internship.

CANDIDACY

It is the responsibility of the student to fulfill all candidacy requirements. Elevation to candidacy for degree requires the student to:

1. Successfully complete all courses required for candidacy and to file a formal application for candidacy with the Dean of the Graduate School.

The student is reminded that admission to the Rehabilitation Counseling Program does not insure graduation from it. In addition to the formal application for candidacy requirement, there is a process of continuous evaluation of the student focusing on academic competence, commitment to the Program, and the personal and emotional characteristics and qualities related to successful performance in a helping profession and retention in the Program is based on a combination of all these variables.

THE MASTER OF ARTS DEGREE

The student desiring the M.A. degree should so designate on the application form if possible, but definitely by the time of filing for candidacy for the degree. Course requirements for the M.A. are similar to the M.S. degree with the exception that the student must take R.C. 371 - Research Study. In addition, the student must complete a thesis under the direction of a Departmental faculty member designated by the Chairman and successfully defend the thesis orally before three Departmental faculty. The thesis shall be a descriptive or experimental research project in an area of interest to the student which has been approved by the thesis advisor. Specific format and technical requirements shall be in accord with the policies published in the Graduate School Catalog. Submission for approval of the thesis must be at least 60 days before the student's graduation date. Students who desire doctoral work are urged to elect the M.A. degree sequence.

THE MASTER OF SCIENCE DEGREE

The student desiring the M.S. degree should so designate on the application form if possible, but definitely by the time of filing for candidacy for the degree. The student in this non-thesis program must submit a scholarly paper which is research oriented in an area of interest to the student after approval by the student's mentor. Specific format and technical requirements shall be in accord with the policies published in the Graduate School Catalog. Submission for approval of the paper must be at least 60 days before the student's graduation date.

GRADING

Grading in academic courses will follow the Graduate School letter grade system. Performance in experiential courses may be evaluated on a Pass-Fail system.

COMPETENCY EXAMINATIONS

Students may select to demonstrate competency in a prescribed body of knowledge through examination. A maximum of six credits may be earned on this basis. Procedural details regarding fees, tuition charges, and examinations shall conform to University policy.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS

A comprehensive examination as prescribed by the student's mentor is required of all degree candidates. This examination may be written, oral, or both and generally covers rehabilitation philosophy, counseling, human assessment, and research knowledge. It is the student's responsibility to file an application for the comprehensive examination with the Dean of the Graduate School after successfully completing 30 graduate credits, (including R.C. 301, 304, 321, and 332) and having been elevated to candidate for degree.

FINANCIAL AID

Limited financial aid has been available in the form of traineeships from the Rehabilitation Services Administration. The traineeship may pay the student's tuition, fees, and provide a monthly stipend. First priority for traineeships, if available, are awarded to students who have earned 30 graduate credits, are full-time, financially eligible, and have demonstrated academic and personal competence and a personal commitment to both the Rehabilitation Counseling Program and the field of rehabilitation.

GRADUATION

It is the student's responsibility to file an application for degree with the Dean of the Graduate School at the beginning of the semester the student expects to graduate.

REHABILITATION COUNSELING

Dr. John K. Stout, Director of Graduate Studies

PHILOSOPHY

The effective helper in rehabilitation counseling is a person who has acquired the basic attitudes, knowledge, and skills of the profession through academic training; who combines these with personal and emotional characteristics of interpersonal awareness and sensitivity, emotional maturity, and personal effectiveness; and who has demonstrated basic competencies in the helping process.

The goal of the Program is to create a learning environment whereby the student can not only acquire the academic competencies of the profession and refine them through practical experience, but also to provide a facilitative process through which the student can increase self understanding, self confidence, and personal effectiveness.

The Program faculty expect all students to bring considerable enthusiasm and time commitment to the Program, its faculty, and other students. The faculty brings knowledge, experience, commitment, respect for the individual student, accessibility to the student, and conditions for optimal learning and personal growth and development. The student is expected to be a professional and demonstrate behavior commensurate with this status; that is, the student is assumed to be serious in purpose, committed to learning, internally motivated, willing to engage in serious self exploration, open to new ideas and people, interested in and able to relate effectively with the faculty and his peers, and generally engage in the pursuit of personal and academic excellence.

The student is also expected to identify with the profession of rehabilitation counseling. This identification is accomplished through involvement with the graduate student Rehabilitation Counseling Association and by affiliating with one or more of the national professional organizations in the fields of rehabilitation, counseling, and/or personal guidance.

Course Descriptions

REHABILITATION COUNSELING AND VOCATIONAL ADJUSTMENT

R.C. 301 Introduction to Rehabilitation Services 3 credits

The philosophical, historical, and legal bases of rehabilitation services are examined. The role of various professionals and community agencies involved in the rehabilitation process is examined.

R.C. 302 Human Dynamics 3 credits

Designed to increase the student's awareness of his needs, his impact on other persons, and the demands of his environment. Human dynamics are illustrated and experienced in small group interactions.

R.C. 303 Vocational Development, Evaluation, and Adjustment 3 credits

Theories of occupational choice and career development are studied from the viewpoint of disabled individuals. Vocational evaluation and work adjustment concepts as utilized in sheltered workshops are presented.

R.C. 304 Introduction to Research 3 credits

An introduction to the field of rehabilitation research is presented. Statistical and research methods as they apply to rehabilitation problems and issues are examined. The student is expected to develop skills in the analysis of published research and to begin initial proposal development for the scholarly paper or thesis.

R.C. 305 Issues in Rehabilitation Counseling 3 credits

The course provides an overview of the profession as well as in-depth study of selected areas in counseling, testing, research, philosophy and legal aspects of rehabilitation counseling.

R.C. 306 Guided Field Experience in Rehabilitation 3 credits

Directed group observation and discussion of habilitation and rehabilitation services provided in a variety of community agencies, hospitals, clinics, therapeutic centers, halfway houses, drop-in centers, work training centers, group-living homes for the handicapped, and rehabilitation centers.

R.C. 311 Psycho-Social Problems 3 credits

The problems of drug and alcohol dependency, aged, severely disabled, and social-cultural disadvantage are examined. Treatment approaches and facilities are illustrated and discussed through a combination of field visits and visiting lecturers, with emphasis on placement problems.

R.C. 312 Physical and Visual Disability 3 credits

The most common physical and visual disabilities with which rehabilitation counselors deal are discussed including symptomatology, residual functioning, psychological correlates, and rehabilitation treatment.

R.C. 313 Mental Health 3 credits

An examination of the problems of and associated with mental and emotional disturbances. Emphasis is placed on contemporary modalities of treatment as they relate to community Mental Health programs. Critical issues revolving around mental health including the dynamics behind these issues will be discussed.

R.C. 314 Correctional Rehabilitation 3 credits

The course examines a broad spectrum of the criminal justice rehabilitation system which includes rehabilitation aspects of various types of prisons, community treatment approaches as well as probation and parole. The role of the correctional rehabilitation counselor is emphasized through the case study method.

R.C. 315 Gerontology 3 credits

The purpose of this course is to present a broad overview of the major concepts and issues relevant to gerontology. The course will begin with a historical perspective of the field and branch into the psychological, sociological and biological aspects of aging.

R.C. 316 Mental Retardation 3 credits

An examination of the problems of and associated with mental retardation. Emphasis is placed on contemporary modalities of treatment as they relate to community Mental Retardation programs. Critical issues revolving around mental retardation including the dynamics behind these issues will be discussed.

R.C. 321 Human Assessment 3 credits

Focuses on the statistical and research basis of psychological testing. Intelligence and aptitudes are conceptualized and the student gains familiarity with the clinical use of these tests in rehabilitation counseling.

R.C. 331 Case Management 3 credits

The role of the rehabilitation counselor as a case manager or coordinator of services is examined. A case study approach is utilized.

R.C. 332 Counseling Theories and Techniques 3 credits

Selected theories and techniques of counseling are discussed and examined through a combination of lecture, discussion, and role playing activities. Application to different types of rehabilitation clients is discussed. Prerequisite - R.C. 331.

R.C. 333 Group Counseling and Dynamics 3 credits

Selected theories, techniques, and research in group counseling and dynamics are discussed with particular emphasis on application in rehabilitation treatment and supervision.

R.C. 334 Behavior Modification and Therapy 3 credits

The literature on behavior modification and therapy is examined with particular emphasis on the application in rehabilitation facilities such as sheltered workshops, half-way houses, correctional facilities, and mental institutions.

R.C. 341 Principles of Supervision 3 credits

Administrative and supervisory principles and practices are covered. Included are leadership and supervisory roles and functions, staff development practices, and personnel utilization and maximization. Problems are illustrated in case studies.

R.C. 361 Practicum in Rehabilitation Counseling 3-6 credits

Focuses on necessary and desirable counseling skills, development of counseling relationships, and case conceptualization. Practical application of counseling theories and techniques, psychological testing, and vocational development theory is emphasized. (Pre-requisites 301, 302, 304, 322, 331, 332).

R.C. 361.1 Practicum in Group Counseling 3 credits

Focuses on necessary and desirable group counseling skills, the development of group environments and the use of group techniques for generating individual change. An advanced personal group experience under direction of the faculty is an ongoing part of this practicum. Students will be admitted to this practicum only by consent of faculty practicum supervisor. (Pre-requisites 302, 333).

R.C. 362 Internship in Rehabilitation Counseling 9 credits

Full time placement in a community rehabilitation agency, facility, or institution involving 600 clock hours of supervised experience. Assignment in community rehabilitation agencies are conducted concurrently with academic work on campus. These assignments may include work in a district office of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation, or an agency offering services for a specific handicapped group (blind, retarded, emotionally disturbed, orthopedically disabled etcetra), or in a sheltered workshop, center, hospital or other public or private agency where the student is a member of the rehabilitation team.

R.C. 371 Research Study 3 - 6 credits

Designed for students who are working on independent projects or required for M.A. degree candidates. Registration with permission of student's mentor and Department Chairman.

Master of Business Administration Program

Prof. W. E. Katorkas, Director

REQUIREMENTS

The applicant for admission should possess the baccalaureate degree and provide the Admissions Committee with evidence of sufficient undergraduate preparation of good quality in Business Administration or Accounting.

A minimum undergraduate quality point average of 2.4 (on the basis of "A" equals 4.0) will be required. All applicants are also required to submit their scores as attained from the Graduate Management Admission Test. In some cases, other national examination test scores (Graduate Record Examination, Miller Analogies Test) may be acceptable. Test scores will be utilized in the determination of an applicant's acceptability into the program.

If a student possesses a baccalaureate degree other than in Business, background preparation is expected in the following areas: Accounting, Statistics, Micro-Economics, Macro-Economics and Business Law. Additional undergraduate work may be required in the areas of Finance, Marketing or Management, depending upon the student's M.B.A. concentration, his undergraduate preparation, and his work experience. A student who has been given Provisional acceptance (some prerequisites needed) may request exemption from one or more prerequisites if he feels he has sufficient background preparation in these areas. The determination of the student's background knowledge in the area(s) in question will be by written examination(s), which will be allowed to be taken only once. Such exemption exams are given on the first Friday during the months of October and March. Application forms for such examination (s) can be obtained from the Dean of the Graduate School. (See fee schedule for cost of examination.)

Students classified as Provisional, are further reminded that normally prerequisites must be fulfilled before enrolling in graduate courses. Exceptions to this policy will be permitted only upon the recommendation of the student's mentor, but in no case will a student be allowed to enroll in more than nine graduate credits without having first completed the prerequisites assigned.

GRADUATE MANAGEMENT ADMISSIONS TEST

This examination is an aptitude test designed to measure certain mental abilities that have been found to be important in the study of business at the graduate level. This test will be required of all students who wish to attain "Degree Status Classification," although under certain conditions it may be waived by recommendation of the Director of the MBA Program and upon approval of the Dean.

Application forms for the GMAT may be obtained from the Graduate Office or by writing to the Educational Testing Service, Box 966, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540. Applicants should be registered with ETS to take the exam at least three weeks prior to the testing date. The exam will be administered on this campus on the following dates: October 28, 1978; January 27, 1979; March 17, 1979 and July 7, 1979.

CANDIDACY

Students seeking the M.B.A. degree must, before completing nine graduate credits in Business Administration, file an application for candidacy. On receipt of this application and the completion of nine graduate credits in Business Administration, the student's record will be reviewed by his mentor and the Chairman of the Department to determine that all prerequisites have been met and to appraise his potential for successful completion of graduate work and growth in his field. No one will be permitted to continue his credits toward the M.B.A. degree until he has been formally admitted to candidacy.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN BUSINESS

Correlated Program

For a Master of Science in Business correlated with education, kindly refer to the criteria outlined by the Department of Education, the Division of Graduate Secondary Education and the Programs of Correlated Studies for application procedures and degree requirements.

M.B.A. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

Beginning with the fall semester of 1978, a revised M.B.A. program will be initiated as detailed in this catalog. This program is patterned to reflect the curriculum standards of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. It is broad in scope and aims to develop perspectives usually utilized by managers in their decision-making process.

Students who have been accepted prior to the fall semester of 1978 will complete their studies in accordance with the program as outlined in the 1977-78 Graduate School Catalog. Students accepted after the summer of 1978 will be required to meet their M.B.A. degree requirements in accordance with the revised program as presented in this, the 1978-79 catalog.

The revised program requires, for degree purposes, that a student successfully complete a basic core of courses in the field of Business Administration amounting to twenty-four (24) graduate credits and six (6) additional elective graduate credits. The total program, except for those students who are required to complete undergraduate prerequisites, is thirty (30) graduate credits.

The new program is shown below with the equivalent course(s) under prior catalogs shown in parenthesis.

Department of English

Dr. Henry J. Stauffenberg, Chairman and Director of Graduate Program

DEPARTMENTAL REQUIREMENTS

The applicant must, prior to the start of his graduate program, possess a baccalaureate degree; and must have completed on the undergraduate upper-division level a minimum of eighteen semester hours in English; and must, further, have a quality point index of not less than 2.5 (of a possible 4.0) in his upper-division courses in English. The applicant will, normally, be admitted to candidacy after the successful completion of nine graduate credits in English and the recommendation of the Departmental graduate committee. Applicants who have achieved satisfactory scores on the advanced literature section of the Graduate Record Examination prior to admission (scores to be reviewed by the graduate committee) may be considered degree candidates immediately. The Department recommends that all applicants take the G.R.E., particularly those who contemplate proceeding to the doctorate. No student may continue to take credits towards a degree (after nine hours of course work) who has not been formally notified of his admission to candidacy.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

A. Master of Arts in English

Candidates for the degree of Master of Arts in English may select a thesis or non-thesis program.

A 1. Thesis Program

The M.A. thesis program will require the student to complete successfully 27 credits in courses in English, as outlined below; pass a comprehensive requirement; and present a critical study (dissertation) of no less than 12,000 words. The comprehensive examination for the M.A. (thesis) will be an oral examination, in which the candidate will defend his dissertation and be questioned on literary material from the area of his thesis and two other major areas of English or American literature. The specific areas for each student's oral examination will be established by the student and his mentor, based on the thesis topic.

The specific course requirement for the M.A. (thesis and non-thesis) is English 200: Introduction to Research and Linguistics (three credits).^{*} The remaining 24 hours of credit for the M.A. (thesis) are to be taken in courses approved by the student's mentor. These courses should be so chosen as to combine student interest in certain periods and genres, and coverage, both in range and depth, of the fields of British and American literature. The 30 credit hours necessary for the M.A. (thesis) are completed with the three hours granted for the dissertation.

A 2. Non-Thesis Program

The M.A. non-thesis program requires the student to complete successfully 33 credits in courses in English, including English 200;* and pass a written comprehensive examination. The examination, which is given several times a year, as scheduled by the Graduate Office, will be based on a "reading list" of works selected from the major eras of British and American literature. The questions require students to demonstrate their knowledge of those works, as well as the literary history of which they are a part and the characteristics of the genres they exemplify. There are several such lists, and each one is the basis for several examinations. The lists and the tests are rotated regularly. Students should ask their mentors or the Department Chairman for a Reading List after they have completed nine credits of graduate study, and begin then to prepare for the Comprehensive Examination. They should apply at the Graduate Office to take that examination some time during the year in which they expect to complete their degree requirements.

B. Master of Science in English - Correlated Program

For a Master of Science in English correlated with education, kindly refer to the criteria outlined by the Department of Education, the Division of Graduate Secondary Education and the Programs of Correlated Studies for application procedures and degree requirements.

MODERN LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

If the M.A. degree is to be a terminal degree, students will not be required to satisfy a modern language requirement. Nor will there be a modern language requirement for students following the Master of Science (correlated) program. Students intending to continue graduate studies elsewhere to the doctoral level should, however, fulfill the modern language requirement by successfully completing a reading examination in the language of their choice, before taking the M.A. degree. The language, normally, would be either French or German.

COMBINED UNDERGRADUATE - GRADUATE PROGRAMS

A special five year program leading to the Master of Arts degree in English is offered to qualified undergraduate students which makes it possible to obtain the A. B. and M. A. degrees within the period cited. Interested students should contact the Chairman of the Department for details.

*(Or English 201 - History of the English Language (3 credits).

Course Descriptions - English

English 200. Introduction to Research and Linguistics 3 credits

A survey of a selective list of books and periodicals that every student of literature should read; also an introduction to the general science of linguistics.

English 201. History of the English Language 3 credits

An investigation of the principal phonemic, morphological, and orthographic changes governing the evolution of the English language from Anglo-Saxon times to the present; although the approach will be historical, due emphasis will be accorded the study of our language as a living cultural entity. (Subject to the discretion of the Chairman or a delegate, this course may be substituted for English 200 in fulfillment of the department's linguistics requirement.)

English 204. The Teaching of Shakespeare 3 credits

This course, designed for high school teachers of Shakespeare, includes an innovative approach to the plays — no more than five a semester — which will consist of a two-pronged attack: (1) a thorough reading and translation of each play in the traditional classroom manner; (2) a laboratory approach in which the problems of actually producing each play on a high school stage are discussed and solved by experimental acting and directing of selected scenes from the play.

English 205. Modern Grammar in the English Curriculum 3 credits

The theory of transformational grammar, studied against such other theories as prescriptivism, structuralism and case grammar, in practical application to the high school and college English curriculum.

English 206. Composition in the English Curriculum 3 credits

Designed for both high school and junior college English teachers, this course will review traditional composition programs and approaches, explore innovative programs and methods, and consider the place of composition in a variety of curricula.

English 207. Literature in the English Curriculum 3 credits

In considering strategies for selecting, organizing, and teaching high school literature, this course will explore the central question of what a sequential, well-balanced, efficient program in literature should consist of. It will include adolescent literature, themes, genres, socio-political movements, thematic and short courses, autotutorial devices or systems, and inquiry methods.

English 211. Medieval English Literature 3 credits

A critical study of the major literary works in English of the Middle Ages, from Beowulf through Everyman.

English 214. Chaucer I: The Early Poems 3 credits

Close study of Chaucer's poetry other than The Canterbury Tales, with particular emphasis on Troilus and Criseyde.

English 215. Chaucer II: The Canterbury Tales 3 credits

A detailed examination of the general structure of The Canterbury Tales and of the individual tales, with attention to specialized critical tools and techniques, and to various critical approaches to Chaucer.

English 220. Shakespeare and Other Elizabethan

Dramatists I

3 credits

A careful study of Shakespeare's plays written before 1600, together with selected plays of Marlowe, Kyd, Greene, and Peele.

A careful study of Shakespeare's plays written after 1600, together with selected plays by Jonson, Chapman, Dekker, Beaumont, Fletcher, Tourneur, Marston, Middleton, Massinger, and Ford.

English 231. Sixteenth Century Literature

3 credits

Poetry and prose of the English Renaissance, with special attention to the new birth of poetic form; examination in depth of the great poetic achievements of Sidney, Spenser, and Shakespeare.

English 232. Seventeenth Century Literature

3 credits

A study in depth of the major British authors of the seventeenth century other than Milton.

English 234. Milton

3 credits

An appreciation of John Milton as poet, critic, and innovator, together with a critical survey of the poet's sources, poetical works, and literary forms.

English 236. Augustan Studies

3 credits

A study in depth of the major works of John Dryden, Alexander Pope, Jonathan Swift, Joseph Addison, Richard Steele, and William Congreve.

English 238. Dr. Johnson and His Age

3 credits

The work of Johnson and his contemporaries studied in the light of the social, political, and intellectual background of the second half of the eighteenth century.

English 239. The English Novel, Defoe through Austen

3 credits

Readings of selected novels of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries, with emphasis on the literary, social, and intellectual sources of the novel.

English 240. Romantic Poetry and Criticism

3 credits

An examination of the poetry and critical writings of the major romantic poets. The aim is not an exhaustive survey but an intensive study of several of the following: Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, Keats.

English 243. Victorian Poetry and Non-Fictional Prose

3 credits

An examination of Victorian poetry and non-fictional prose in the light of its social, political, and intellectual backgrounds. The aim is not an exhaustive survey but an intensive study of several of the following: Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, the Pre-Raphaelites, Carlyle, Newman, Ruskin and Pater.

English 244. The English Novel, Dickens through Hardy

English 272. Seminar: Special Studies in Comparative Literature 3 credits

English 280. Afro-American Literature 3 credits
An introductory survey of Afro-American literature, stressing an in-depth examination of the works of Afro-Americans in poetry, song, drama, the novel, the essay, and the slave narrative. Emphasis will be placed on the relationship between the Afro-American experience and the African experience. The period covered is from the founding of the American nation to the present day.

A tentative cycle indicating when courses will be offered is available from the Department. Please see the chairman.

Department of History

Dr. Michael D. DeMichele, Chairman

Dr. John L. Earl III, Director of Graduate Program

DEPARTMENTAL REQUIREMENTS

The applicant must possess the baccalaureate degree and should as an undergraduate have completed a minimum of 18 upper-division semester hours in History. The applicant should have a Quality Point Index of not less than 2.6 (based on 4.00 scale) in all his undergraduate history courses or have attained a score of 500 on the General Aptitude Test of the G.R.E. or an equivalent score in other nationally recognized tests. The student will be considered as non-matriculated until the successful completion on nine graduate credits in History and formal application to the Department for candidacy. In the event that significant gaps occur in the student's undergraduate program, additional undergraduate history courses may be specified by the mentor. The student's acceptance as a candidate will be recommended by the Department, after their appraisal of the student's capability for continued growth as a graduate student, and approved by the Dean of the Graduate School. No student may continue to take credits toward the degree unless notified of acceptance as a candidate.

MASTER OF ARTS IN HISTORY

A. Duration of Candidacy: From formal promotion to candidacy, the student will have six calendar years in which to complete the requirements for the degree. For extraordinary reasons, extensions of this time limit may be granted by the Dean of the Graduate School upon recommendation by the Department Chairman.

B. Course Requirements: The Master of Arts in History requires successful completion of 30 graduate credits. Of these, 18 credits will be in History, and 12 course credits will be from the areas of Political Science and Social Studies which will serve as the minor field for the degree.

C. A Thesis or Non-Thesis Program: A thesis or non-thesis program for the M.A. degree would be at the option of the student. Both the thesis and non-thesis programs entail successful completion of 30 graduate credits (18 in the major and 12 in the minor), and a successful comprehensive examination in the field. The thesis program, however, will require the student to complete successfully a total of 27 course credits and to present an acceptable thesis for which three credits will be granted. The thesis topic will determine the area of credit and must be approved by the student's mentor under whose active direction the thesis shall be satisfactorily completed. The thesis must be approved by a faculty panel assigned by the Chairman of the Department.

D. Comprehensive Examination: All candidates for the comprehensive examination in History must have the approval of the mentor, and have completed at least 24 graduate credits in the program. Ordinarily, the comprehensive examination will be a written three hour exam and a one hour oral examination. The exam will be designed and graded by the student's mentor and a faculty panel to test the student's knowledge of the factual and interpretive material basic to the student's field. It will not be limited to the contest material treated in the course work. In fact, the mentor will provide the student with a list of books, required reading beyond the course work as essential background for the comprehensive.

E. Mentor: Upon admission to the Graduate School in History, the student will be assigned a mentor who will advise the student of all course work and who, if the program includes a thesis, will direct the student's research and writing of the thesis.

FOUR YEAR A.B./M.A. DEGREE PROGRAM

The Department of History and Political Science offers a special program that enables the qualified student to obtain both a Bachelor's and Master's Degree within four calendar years by accelerating their course of study through judicious use of Intercession and Summer School, and by allowing twelve (12) graduate history credits to be applied to both the A.B. and M.A. degree programs. Students can be conditionally admitted to the program upon matriculation at the University and after approval by the Department and the Deans of the Undergraduate and Graduate Schools. Students already enrolled at the University and transfer students may enter the program on a conditional basis up to the end of the second year of studies with the same approval mentioned above.

During the second year in this program, the student will be evaluated for candidacy to both degrees. The student's acceptance will be recommended by the Department and approved by the Deans of the Undergraduate and Graduate Schools. No student may continue into the third year of the program unless duly notified of acceptance as a candidate. Ordinarily, no student will be admitted to candidacy unless that student has maintained an overall Quality Point Index of 3.0 (based on a 4.00 scale) in all courses and a Q.P.I. of 3.1 in all history courses. The same average should be maintained during the entire four year program. Students who fall below these requirements will be subject to candidacy review before continuation in the program.

Students enrolled in the four year A.B./M.A. Degree Program are required to complete all other degree requirements specified in the catalogues of both the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School of the University of Scranton.

Course Descriptions - History

Hist. 200 Science and Methods of Historians 3 credits

A study and application of scientific methodology required for gathering, assessing, synthesizing and documenting historical information with special attention given to American historians and historiography.

Hist. 205 America: From Province to Nation 3 credits

An examination of selected topics pertaining to the political, diplomatic and social history of the American colonies.

Hist. 210 The Shaping of the American Nation 3 credits

An examination of selective topics in the period from the adoption of the Federal Constitution to the retirement of Andrew Jackson.

Hist. 215 America's Immigration Experience 3 credits

An in-depth look at the immigration and Americanization of selected ethnic groups in U.S. society.

Hist. 220 American Expansionism 3 credits

A study of the expansionist instinct in U.S. foreign policy from the Revolutionary days to modern times.

Hist. 225 Pivotal Figures in America's Rise to World Power 3 credits

A close examination of the lives of several major figures whose contributions, be they in the areas of politics, religion, business, the fine arts, social reform, or invention, changed the United States from a backwater republic to a leader in the family of nations.

Hist. 230 *Conflict, Consensus and Reform:
America's Response to Industrialism* 3 credits

A study of the Civil War and Reconstruction, industrial growth and conflict, the American Black, the reform impulses and the transformation of national politics: Bryan, Roosevelt and Wilson.

Hist. 235 *Conflict, Consensus and Reform:
Post Industrial America* 3 credits

A study of the Great War, the Twenties, the Depression, World War II, the Cold War, and the emergence and erosion of national consensus.

Hist. 240 American Style in Art and Architecture 3 credits

A study of the social and domestic history of the American people from the colonial era to the Twentieth Century through an examination of how Americans developed living patterns and artistic ambience.

Hist. 250 The British Experience 3 credits

A study and interpretation of the enduring political, cultural, and social heritage of Britain from the Age of Victoria to the end of Empire.

Hist. 255 The Soviet Achievement 3 credits
An analysis of the social, cultural, economic and political accomplishments of the U.S.S.R.

Hist. 260 Modern Germany 3 credits
A detailed study of modern Germany from the formation of the German Empire to the demise of Adolph Hitler and the reconstruction of Germany after World War II.

Hist. 265 Artistic and Cultural Achievements of Modern Europe 3 credits
A view of the major accomplishments of European Civilization with an emphasis on the various artistic and cultural developments of Europe in the late Nineteenth and early Twentieth Centuries.

Hist. 270 Anatomy of Modern Europe 3 credits
An analysis of the major institutions, problems and accomplishments of Europe since the end of World War II.

Course Descriptions - Political Science

P.S. 310 Pragmatic Federalism 3 credits
Evolution, development and changes in federal and state relations, with an analysis of the forces influencing these changes in contemporary times.

P.S. 315 American Constitution and Civil Liberties 3 credits
Emphasis on the basis of American constitutionalism, the development of the judicial process, the problems of civil liberties and religious freedom.

P.S. 320 Urbanization of America 3 credits
An analysis of the transformation of American Society from Agrarian-rural to an industrial-urban system.

P.S. 325 Decision-Making in America 3 credits
A study of decision-making in American society and a comparison of empirical studies of decision making with classical and contemporary theories of democracy.

P.S. 330 American Foreign Policy in the Nuclear Age 3 credits
An assessment of American foreign policy and diplomacy in the decades since World War II.

P.S. 335 The Fate of the Atlantic Community 3 credits
An analysis of the problems that have blocked the Atlantic Union, and a study of the theoretical and institutional development of the Atlantic partnership between the United States and Europe.

Department of Chemistry

Charles J. Thoman, S.J., Chairman and Director of Graduate Program

DEPARTMENTAL REQUIREMENTS

The applicant must, at the time of application, possess a baccalaureate degree and have ordinarily completed on the undergraduate level General and Analytical Chemistry and one full year's course in each of the following: Organic Chemistry, Physical Chemistry, General Physics, and Mathematics through Integral Calculus. Further, the applicant must have an over-all Quality Point Index of 2.5, with 2.5 in the Chemistry and other Science Courses. Certain of these qualifications may be waived at the discretion of the Department Chairman.

Students with limited course deficiencies in undergraduate preparation may be admitted with the approval of the Chemistry Faculty but should correct such deficiencies concurrently with their initial graduate courses.

The applicant will not be considered matriculated to candidacy for the degree until the following requirements have been satisfied:

1. Satisfactory completion of the required courses in the Graduate Division.
2. Satisfactory completion of the Qualifying Examinations. Such examinations cover the areas of Organic, Analytical, Inorganic and Physical Chemistry. These examinations must be taken early in the first semester of the student's enrollment in the program.
3. Candidacy requirements must be fulfilled not later than the completion of eighteen credits in the Graduate Division.
4. At the discretion of his mentor, a student might be required to complete one Laboratory Preparation course in the Graduate Program, and/or a course in Chemical Literature in the Undergraduate Program.
5. At the discretion of the Department Chairman, Chemistry 252 may be required as a prerequisite to Chemistry 251 (Seminar).

The normal graduate load is 9-10 credits per semester. A Master's Degree will ordinarily require 3 to 4 semesters of study.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

A. Master of Arts in Chemistry

Candidates for the degree of Master of Arts in Chemistry must complete successfully 24 credits in Chemistry, as outlined below, pass a Comprehensive Examination, and present a thesis demonstrating a distinct contribution to the field. A maximum of six (6) credit hours are allowed for the thesis which must be defended.

Prior to engaging in research relative to the thesis, the candidate must present a proposal for such research to his mentor and defend such proposal before the Chemistry Department Faculty. Arrangements are to be made with the candidate's mentor.

The specific course requirements for this degree are: Chem. 202, 211, 221, 222, 241, 242, and 251.* In addition, a basic laboratory course in the student's field of specialization will be taken unless sufficient preparation in advanced techniques is established. Attendance at Departmental Seminars is mandatory. An additional six (6) credits may be selected from elective courses in the student's field of specialization (analytical, biochemistry, organic, or physical). Research under the Mentor's direction culminates in a thesis which must be defended before the chemistry faculty.

For the Master of Arts degree, success in a German, French or Russian reading examination is also one of the requirements.

Combined Undergraduate - Graduate Programs

A special four year program leading to the Masters degree in Chemistry or Biochemistry is offered to qualified undergraduate students, which makes it possible to obtain the B. S. and M. A. degrees within the period cited. Interested students should contact the Chairman of the Department for details.

B. Master of Science in Chemistry

The Master of Science Degree is awarded for successful completion of a non-thesis program.

A student accepted for graduate study under this program clears qualifying examinations as above and similarly plans his program. Again, limited deficiencies are corrected prior to or concurrently with graduate studies.

In this program thirty (30) course credits will be required. Core courses, as above, are: Chem. 202, 211, 221, 222, 241, 242, and 251.* Additional elective courses totaling 12 credits complete the program. To provide for flexibility in the program and the undergraduate needs, one or more graduate courses in mathematics or cognate sciences may be taken as electives.

No thesis or language examination is required but comprehensive examinations are an integral part of the degree requirements.

*May be waived.

C. Master of Science in Chemistry for Secondary School Teachers

The Master of Science in Chemistry for Secondary School Teachers is designed specifically for the professional improvement of high school teachers.

Candidates for this degree must successfully complete thirty credits, fifteen of which must be in chemistry and six more in the teaching of chemistry. Great latitude is allowed in filling in the remaining nine credits. There is no language or qualifying examination requirement.

The prerequisites for this degree are not as stringent as for the others. For admission, applicants should have completed two semesters in chemistry, and one year each of college physics and mathematics.

The required core courses for this degree are: Chem. 202, 211, 222, 245 and 246. In lieu of a thesis, the student must also take Chem. 257-58, a two semester course in the teaching of high school chemistry. With his mentor's approval, the student may take his remaining nine credits in any graduate or upper division undergraduate courses that meet his needs.

D. Master of Arts in Biochemistry

The M.A. program with its research emphasis prepares the student for doctoral work or for industrial employment, or research in biologically oriented enterprise.

Candidates for the degree must complete a minimum of twenty-four credits in chemistry-biochemistry as outlined below, pass comprehensive examinations and present a thesis demonstrating a contribution to the field. Up to six credit hours are allowed for the thesis.

The required core courses for the degree are Chem. 211, Chem. 222, Chem. 233, Chem. 234, Chem. 242 and 251.* If a student is deficient in Undergraduate Physical Chemistry he must take Chem. 245 and Chem. 246 in lieu of Chem. 242. The remaining courses may be selected from the following electives: Chem. 235, 236, 237, 263, 264 and others. A basic laboratory course in Biochemistry will be required unless sufficient preparation in advanced techniques is established. The research, culminating in a thesis, must be defended before the Chemistry Faculty. For the M.A. degree, success in German, French or Russian reading examination is required.

*May be waived.

E. Master of Science in Biochemistry

The M.S. program is designed as a terminal degree for professional improvement of Biochemists or the retraining of chemists in the field of Biochemistry.

Candidates for the degree must successfully complete 30 credits in Chemistry-Biochemistry as outlined below and pass a comprehensive examination in their major field. No thesis or language examination is required.

The Core Courses are Chem. 211, Chem. 222, Chem. 233, Chem. 234, Chem. 242, and Chem. 251.* If a student is deficient in Undergraduate Physical Chemistry he must take Chem. 245 and Chem. 246 in lieu of Chem. 242. Elective courses may be selected from Chem. 235, 236, 237, 263, 264 and others. A basic laboratory course will be required in Biochemistry, unless proficiency in Biochemical techniques is established.

F. Correlated Master of Science in Secondary Education — Chemistry

The correlated Master of Science Degree in Secondary Education — Chemistry is designed for the professional improvement of secondary school teachers.

After acceptance for graduate study and qualifying examinations, an integrated course of studies is arranged under the Mentor's direction. Limited deficiencies in Chemistry preparation or background will be remedied prior to or concurrently with graduate studies.

Thirty-three credits are required for the degree of which fifteen (15) will be in Chemistry and eighteen (18) in graduate education courses. The required courses in Chemistry are: Chem. 202, 221, and 241. An additional 6 credits of electives in graduate chemistry are acceptable.

Neither a thesis nor a language requirement must be fulfilled, but comprehensive examinations in Chemistry and Education are prescribed.

*May be waived.

Course Descriptions - Chemistry

Chem. 202. Advanced Inorganic Chemistry 3 credits

Theoretical concepts and their application to the reactions and structure of inorganic compounds. Introduction to co-ordination chemistry. Coordination chemistry and related topics; physical methods, reaction mechanisms.

Chem. 211. Advanced Analytical Chemistry 3 credits

Theory and description of modern analytical techniques with emphasis on physico-chemical measurements, including the limitation of physical and chemical separation techniques, and rates and mechanisms of analytical reactions.

Chem. 213. Electro-Analytic Chemistry 3 credits

Theory and applications of potentiometry, polarography, amperometry, coulometry, and other analytical methods.

Chem. 214. Applied Spectroscopy 3 credits

The use of ultraviolet, visible spectroscopy, infrared spectroscopy, nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy and mass spectroscopy as tools for the identification of organic compounds. The course will include laboratory work using these instruments.

Chem. 218. Analytical Methods 1 2 credits

Laboratory practice with special analytical apparatus and methods used for process and control, and for research. (Lab course - Lab fee charged).

Chem. 221-222. Advanced Organic Chemistry 6 credits

A survey of synthetic and theoretical organic chemistry at an advanced level, with emphasis on stereochemistry and mechanism.

Chem. 223. Theoretical Organic Chemistry 3 credits

A study of the methodology of determining the relationship of structure to reactivity, the mechanisms of important reaction types and the factors that can influence rates and pathways. (Prerequisite: Chem. 222)

Chem. 224. Heterocyclic Chemistry 3 credits

An introductory survey of the structure and reactivity of important types of heterocyclic compounds. (Prerequisite: Chem. 222)

Chem. 228. Organic Preparations 1 credit

Laboratory performance of a number of typical organic syntheses, with an emphasis on the most modern techniques. (Lab course - Lab fee charged).

Chem. 233-234. Biochemistry 6 credits

Chemistry of carbohydrates, lipids, proteins and nucleic acids. Mechanisms and kinetics of enzyme action. A study of the metabolism, digestion and absorption of carbohydrates, lipids, amino acids and proteins.

Chem. 235. Biophysical Chemistry 3 credits

Topics to include transport phenomena (at both the cellular and the molecular level), optical, mechanical and electric properties of proteins, theory of liquids and solutions, mathematical models in biology, and radiation biophysics. Choice and depth of topics will vary with the interests and abilities of the class. Prerequisite: Chem. 245-246 or equivalent.

Chem. 236. Biochemical Genetics 3 credits

Principles and theories of heredity, with special emphasis on biochemical genetics, with their applications to the genetics of microorganisms and human heredity.

Chem. 237. Enzymology 3 credits

A course on the chemical nature of enzymes with relation to mechanisms of enzyme action and kinetics. Purification and identification of enzymes and isozymes. Biochemical and physiological aspects of enzymes in living systems.

Chem. 237.3. Teaching of Chemistry 3 credits

Use of modern methods in the teaching of Chemistry on a secondary level. Recent developments in the treatment of subject matter, including advances in laboratory techniques and demonstration methods. Review of concepts of research as they apply to Chemistry.

Chem. 238. Biochemical Preparations 1 credit

Application of modern theories to biological chemical methods. Spectroscopy, chromatography, polarimetry, electrophoresis, ionophoresis. Applied problems in biochemical research using modern biochemical methods. (Lab course - Lab fee charged).

Chem. 241. Advanced Physical Chemistry I 3 credits

Quantum mechanics and quantum chemistry, including ab initio approaches to classic problems, perturbational theory, variational theory, time-dependent phenomena and specific applications of molecular orbital theories to organic molecules. Generalized organics of molecules. Spectroscopic applications.

Chem. 242. Advanced Physical Chemistry II 3 credits

A comprehensive treatment of thermodynamics, including electrochemistry, thermochemistry and chemical equilibrium, together with an introductory consideration of the concepts of chemical kinetics. Some introduction to the concepts of statistical mechanics and their application to thermodynamics will also be given.

Chem. 245-246. Intermediate Physical Chemistry 6 credits

A review of the fundamentals of chemical principles, and a treatment of the mathematics requisite for such review. Two semesters—this course is offered for graduate credit in programs, "C", "D", and "E".

Chem. 251. Seminar 1 credit

Chem. 252. Introduction to Research 1 credit
A thorough review of the literature of Chemistry in preparation for active laboratory research. The use of such sources as Chemical Abstracts, the Journal Literature, Patent Literature and "Beilstein's Handbuch" will be stressed.

Chem. 255. M.A. Thesis variable up to 6 credits

(Lab Fee Charged — $15.00 per credit)

Chem. 257-258. Chemistry on a Secondary Level 6 credits
This course is treated on a Lecture-Seminar basis with respect to content and methods dealing with Chemistry in the secondary school curriculum. Two semesters. This is similar to N.S.F. course in Chemistry. Only 6 credits total from this series may be claimed for degree.

Chem. 261. Polymer Chemistry 3 credits
Introduction to the physico-chemical aspects of polymers: emphasis on structure, properties and application; thermodynamics of polymer solutions; statistical mechanical consideration of polymers; theories of rubber elasticity.

Chem. 263. Agricultural Chemistry I 3 credits
Physical and chemical properties of soil. Improvement of soil for the purpose of plant production by means of chemicals, microorganisms and wastes. Chemical synthesis in plants.

Chem. 264. Agricultural Chemistry II 3 credits
Biochemistry of plant growth and plant disease. The nature of pesticide action, growth stimulation and inhibition. Energy relations in the synthesis and production of living organisms. (Although Chem. 263 is not a prerequisite for Chem. 264, it is recommended that both courses be taken with Chem. 263 preceding Chem. 264).

Chem. 265. Special Topics 1 credit
A biochemical approach to chemistry including the structure, function and mechanism of hormonal action and control in normal and diseased states. The course is conducted on a seminar basis. Grading may be administered on a Pass-Fail basis.

Department of Physics and Electronics

Prof. John R. Kalafut, Chairman and Director of Graduate Program

DEPARTMENTAL REQUIREMENTS

The applicant for admission must possess the Baccalaureate degree in Physics or Electronics or a related field in Engineering. An overall quality point average of 2.5 is required with a 2.7 average in the Physics and Mathematics courses. The applicant will ordinarily be expected to have completed as an undergraduate at least 24 credits in Physics or Electronics. The Physics requirement includes at least three upper division courses in Mechanics, Electricity and Magnetism and Atomic Physics. The Electronics requirement includes at least three upper division courses in Electricity and Magnetism, Electronics Principles and Circuits and Advanced Electronics. Besides these requirements, the applicant is expected to have at least one Mathematics course beyond Differential Equations, Advanced Calculus being preferred. Students with limited course deficiencies in undergraduate preparation may be admitted with the approval of the Physics faculty but must correct such deficiencies concurrently with their initial graduate courses. Matriculation to candidacy in the Graduate School will be deferred until admission requirements have been successfully completed, and the applicant has successfully completed at least two courses in the Graduate Division.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

A. Master of Arts in Physics

Candidates for the degree of Master of Arts in Physics will be required to complete successfully 30 graduate credits and pass a comprehensive examination. Included in these 30 credits is a research dissertation for which a maximum of six credits may be allowed.

Physics courses 264 and 265 along with four courses from 268, 269, 260, 261, 278 and 279 will be ordinarily required of all candidates for this degree.

B. Master of Science in Physics

Candidates for the degree of Master of Science in Physics will be required to complete 30 graduate credits in approved courses and pass a comprehensive examination. Of these credits 18 to 24 must be in Physics and must include Physics 264 and 265. Six to twelve credits, if approved by the Physics department, may be followed in allied Science or Mathematics courses.

C. Master of Science in Solid State Electronics

Candidates for the Master of Science in Electronics will be required to complete 30 graduate credits in approved courses and pass a comprehensive examination. The five Electronics courses 270, 274, 275, 276 and 277 will ordinarily be required of all candidates along with Physics courses 264 and 278. Appropriate electronics laboratory work will also be incorporated into each student's program of study.

D. Master of Science — Correlated Programs

Candidates for the Master of Science degree in the program correlated with Education must complete 33 graduate credits and pass comprehensive examinations. Of these 33 credits, 15 will be required in Physics and 18 in graduate education. Students in this program will have mentors assigned from both the Physics and the Education departments to maintain a close liaison with both departments during their program of studies.

Course Descriptions - Physics and Electronics

Math. 252. Mathematical Physics I 3 credits

Determinants and Matrices. Fourier Series. La Place Transformations. Introduction to Partial Differential Equations and Boundary Value Problems. Special Functions of Physics including Bessel Functions, Legendre Polynomials, etc.

Math. 253. Mathematical Physics II 3 credits

Functions of a Complex Variable. Infinite Series in the Complex Plane. Theory of Residues. Conformal Mapping. Fourier and La Place Transforms. Advanced Partial Differential Equations. Boundary Value Problems in Physics. Green's Functions.

Physics 260. Advanced Mechanics I 3 credits

Lagrange's and Hamilton's equation for point objects. Hamilton's Principle and the Calculus of Variations. Two body central force motion. Linear vector transformations. Kinematics of rigid body motion. Corequisite: Physics 253.

Physics 261. Advanced Mechanics II 3 credits

Rigid body equations of motion. Special Theory of Relativity in the co-variant four dimensional notation. Canonical transformations and the Hamilton-Jacobi theory. Theory of small oscillations. Prerequisite: Physics 260.

Physics 264. Quantum Mechanics I 3 credits

Basic postulates of Quantum Mechanics. The Schrodinger Wave Equation. Solution of the Wave Equation in One Dimension. The Harmonic Oscillator. Angular Momentum and Spin. Prerequisite: Physics 253.

Physics 265. Quantum Mechanics II 3 credits
Central Forces. The Hydrogen Atom. Matrix Representations and Transformations. Perturbation Theory. Many Body Problems. Identical Particles. Scattering. Prerequisite: Physics 264.

Physics 268. Statistical Physics I 3 credits
Interpretation of thermodynamics in terms of microscopic phenomena via kinetic theory and the statistics of Maxwell-Boltzmann, Fermi-Dirac, and Bose-Einstein. The application of both classical and quantum statistics to systems of non-interacting particles. Prerequisite: Physics 253.

Physics 269. Statistical Physics II 3 credits
Statistical mechanics of systems of interacting particles and other special topics. e.g. imperfect gases, liquids, ferromagnets, electrons in solids, transport equations. Prerequisite: Physics 268.

Electronics 270. Solid State Electronics I 3 credits
The crystal state of matter. Quantum mechanical and statistical foundations of conduction in solids by electrons and holes. Properties of metal alloys. Band theory of solids. (Corequisite - Physics 264)

Electronics 271. Solid State Electronics II 3 credits
Theory of semiconductors and semiconductor devices. Application of physical theory to semiconductor device design. Optical and magnetic properties of solids. Special topics. (Prerequisite, Elec. 270)

Electronics 274. Linear Circuits and Feedback 3 credits
Advanced transistor circuits, operational amplifiers, comparators, oscillators, signal generators and other applications of operational amplifiers with feedback theory.

Electronics 275. High Frequency and Pulse Circuits 3 credits
Review of Electromagnetic wave theory. Transmission line and wave guide theory. Measurement of high frequency signals. Introduction to the circuit configurations used for the generation and processing of pulse, and switching waveforms.

Electronics 276. Digital Electronics Systems 3 credits
Analog to digital and digital to analog devices, shift registers, memories, input and output interfacers leading up to microprocessors.

Electronics 277. Application of Digital Electronics to Information Theory 3 credits
Advanced digital circuits involved in Transmission of data. Information theory as applied to modulation, encoding, decoding and error correcting.

Physics 278. Electromagnetic Theory I 3 credits
Electrostatics, Gauss's Law, Poisson and Laplace equations, Boundary value problems. Maxwell's equations. Prerequisite: Physics 253.

Physics 279. Electromagnetic Theory II 3 credits
Radiating systems. Special theory of relativity. Relativistic kinematics. Radiating charges. Special topics. Prerequisite: Physics 278.

Physics 282. Nuclear Physics I 3 credits

The study of nuclear models and force theories. Natural and induced radioactivity. Theory and measurement of alpha, beta, and gamma decay. Theory of the neutrino. Prerequisite: Intermediate course in Modern Physics.

Physics 283. Nuclear Physics II 3 Credits

Nuclear structure, nuclear spin, nuclear magnetic effects. Nuclear reactions with protons, alpha particles, and neutrons; induced radioactivity with neutrons, sources of neutrons, neutron detectors, nuclear fission. Prerequisite: Physics 282.

Physics 284. Introduction to Biophysics 3 credits

Topics include the theory of transport phenomena that are significant both in the living cell and in the physical characterization of bio-macromolecules, from the standpoint of statistical mechanics and non-equilibrium thermodynamics. Molecular resonance phenomena and microscopic theories of pure liquids and solutions. Radiation in Biology. Prerequisite: Mathematics through Calculus.

Physics 286. Plasmas 3 credits

A course in the physics of the plasma state. Dynamics of charged particles in electric and magnetic fields. Plasma characteristics such as density, Debye length, and cyclotron frequency. Plasma kinetic theory. Transport properties of plasmas. Plasma oscillations. Propagation of electromagnetic waves in plasmas. Plasma turbulence and collision processes.

Physics 290 and 291. Experimental Methods 3 credits

Experiments in optical spectroscopy, infrared spectrophotometry, nuclear magnetic resonance, laser optics, X-Ray diffraction, vacuum evaporation, Mossbauer effect, and beta and gamma ray spectrometry. Each student is expected to perform representative experiments in selected areas listed above and to pursue at least one area in depth in order to make some significant improvements or contributions to techniques. Students will make their own study of references to experimental methods and equipment under guidance and write a comprehensive paper in their work.

Physics 294 or 295. Selected Topics for Independent Study 3 credits

Similar in scope to experimental methods except that student will investigate in depth the theoretical aspects of selected topics in Physics. A comprehensive paper on the topics investigated will be required of the student.

Physics 237.4. Teaching of Physics 3 credits

Use of modern methods and classroom aids in the teaching of Secondary School Physics. Accent on recent developments in the field of Physics. Introduction to some of the research tools used in Physics.

Physics 296 or 297. Master's Thesis Variable

Based on theoretical or experimental research. Student subject to oral examination by Physics Staff members.

Physics 298 or 299. Seminar 1 credit

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN GENERAL SCIENCE

Dr. Eugene A. McGinnis, Director and Mentor for General Science

DESCRIPTION OF PROGRAM

The Master of Science degree in General Science is assumed to be a terminal degree. It is provided so that teachers at the elementary and junior high level will be able to update their science knowledge and thus be better able to handle the recently introduced curricula with its science content. For science teachers at the secondary level it provides an opportunity to become versed in more than one area of science and consequently enhance their teaching skills.

DIVISION REQUIREMENTS

The applicant must, at the time of application, possess a baccalaureate degree, with an overall Quality Point Index of at least 2.5. The applicant will not be considered to be a candidate for the degree until he has successfully passed three of the core courses. No student may continue to take credits toward the degree until he has been notified of his acceptance as a candidate.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

A. Master of Science in General Science

Candidates for the M.S. in General Science must successfully complete thirty (30) course credits. The core courses, of which, normally four are required, are: Science 201, 202, 203, 204, 205 and 206. Additional elective courses totaling twelve credits complete the program. These courses may be chosen, with the approval of the advisor, from course offerings in Biology, Chemistry, Physics, or Mathematics. A scholarly paper, with topic approved by mentor, is also required.

B. Master of Science in General Science - Correlated Program

Candidates for the Master of Science degree in the program correlated with Education must complete 33 graduate credits. Of these 33 credits, 15 will be required in General Science and 18 in Graduate Education. Students in this program will have mentors assigned from both the Physics and the Education departments to maintain a close liaison with both departments during their program of studies. A scholarly paper, with topic approved by mentor, is also required.

Course Descriptions - General Science

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Sci. 201. History and Philosophy of Science 3 credits

This course provides an overview of developments in Physical Science from the beginning to the latest developments in Nuclear Energy. It concerns itself not only with the historical aspects of this development, but also with the philosophical implications and socio-cultural effects. Part of the course will be given with a workshop approach and will introduce the student to the latest techniques and equipment utilized in teaching General Science.

Sci. 202. Scientific Developments Leading to the Space Age 3 credits

Introduction to Newton's Laws, conservation of momentum and energy. Study of Rotational motion. Study of harmonic motion and transfer of energy by waves. Probability and statistical concepts in Human affairs. Heat and Thermodynamics. Electricity and Magnetism. History and development of space science. Part of the course will be given with a workshop approach and will introduce the student to the latest techniques and equipment utilized in teaching General Science.

Sci. 203. Modern Physics and its Impact on Man's Progress 3 credits

Theory of Relativity. Transition from determinism to indeterminism. Birth of Modern Physics. Bohr atom. Wave Mechanics. Radioactivity and the Atomic Nucleus. Overall effect of science on the progress of man. Part of the course will be given with a workshop approach and will introduce the student to the latest techniques and equipment utilized in teaching General Science.

Sci. 204. Chemical Concepts and Their Significance in Life 3 credits

Nature of chemical bonds and reactions. Chemistry of carbon as an organic basis for living organisms. Organic, inorganic, and Physical chemistry in relation to the origin and continuance of life. Significance of chemical principles in the interaction between living organisms and their environment. Part of the course will be given with a workshop approach and will introduce the student to the latest techniques and equipment utilized in teaching General Science.

Sci. 205. Chemical Compounds as a Basis for Life 3 credits

Biochemical production, function, and nature of the building blocks for the living cell. Chemistry of heredity and information systems. Energy conversions in the living cell. Biochemical aspects of the interaction between organisms, environment and drugs. Part of the course will be given with a workshop approach and will introduce the student to the latest techniques and equipment utilized in teaching General Science.

Sci. 206. Biological Structure and Function of Living Organisms

3 credits

Molecular, psychological and morphological levels of organization. Differentiation, division and growth of cells. Biological and psychological aspects of genetics, reproduction and ecology. Part of the course will be given with a workshop approach and will introduce the student to the latest techniques and equipment utilized in teaching General Science.

Sci. 207. Geology

3 credits

The earth: its structure, composition, and agents of construction and destruction. Evolution of the earth and the development of life upon it. Identification of rocks and minerals. Interpretation of topographic and geologic ages.

Sci. 208. Astronomy

3 credits

Survey of solar systems, stars and galaxies. Observational basis of Astronomy. Discussion of artificial satellites and space vehicles as a modern method of obtaining scientific information. Opportunity for astronomical observation will be provided.

Sci. 209. Meteorology

3 credits

Study of the atmosphere and the principles associated with Atmospheric changes. Methods for observing and recording weather data. Reading and interpreting weather maps.

Sci. 210. Science and the Human Environment

3 credits

The effects of the technological, scientific and industrial progress on air, land and water resources of the human environment will be studied. Problems in each of the resource areas will be discussed in detail. Lecture-Demonstration.

Sci. 211. Energy and Environment

3 credits

The primary goal of this course is to provide a quantitative description of the twin crises of energy and environment. The secondary goal is to demonstrate how science can and must contribute to the understanding and the solution of these complex societal problems. It is hoped that the students taking this course will be led to distinguish between reasoning based on science and emotionalism often associated with propaganda and polemics linked to these crises. Lecture - demonstration.

Sci. 212. The Chemistry and Action of Drugs

3 credits

Introductory study of physiological and psychological effect of commonly used drugs on humans. Drug action in relation to molecular biological structure and function.
